They will be given a copy of this Employee Handbook and will be expected to learn its contents. They will also make aware of policies such as, Code of Conduct, and asked to sign off on their adherence to the same.

Employee Classifications

Each position at RACBO-SS shall be classified as either Administrative or Management in nature, as determined by the Executive Director. This decision will be based on the duties assigned and qualifications required for each position. RACBO-SS does collect personal information for inclusion in personnel files. This information is available to the employee, the Executive Director and the senior HR officer for RACBO-SS. This also provides management an opportunity to assess skill levels and address areas of potential concern. During the first ninety (90) days of the probationary period, employment may be terminated by either party for any reason whatsoever, with or without cause, and without notice or payment in lieu of notice, except as may be minimally prescribed by the Employment Standards Labour Act “2017”of South Sudan, as may be amended from time to time. Upon satisfaction of the requirements under the Employment Standards Act, as amended, the RACBO-SS shall have satisfied any and all obligations to the employee, whether under the ESLA, as amended, or at common law. Email: racbonet@gmail.com/garanglual381@gmail.com
i. Probation will end
ii. Probation may be extended for an additional three (3) Months
iii. Employment will end

Annual Salary

Salaries shall be determined by the Executive Director, based on budget considerations and commensurate with the experiences and educational level of the successful candidate. The RACBO-SS shall pay employees on Monthly basis, meeting the usual and necessary statutory and other deductions payable in accordance with the Employer’s standard payroll practices. These payroll practices may be changed from time to time at the Employer’s sole discretion. Currently, payday occurs after every 5th week in a Month and calculated for 25 days monthly.

Performance Appraisals

The performance review document will be a living document for each employee. Each employee will be responsible for developing their respective work plan for the year when contracted. This plan will be reviewed by Management and amended as necessary. At the time of the performance appraisal, the RACBO-SS ED and employee will review the objectives and the results achieved. Throughout the year, the employee and RACBO-SS ED may refer to this document to track progress made toward objectives, highlight areas of concern and indicate challenges identified along the way.

Performance reviews, for all employees, will occur near the end of June with the executive director, and annually thereafter with all Boards. Employees should prepare for this meeting by preparing a draft work plan for the coming year. This meeting is to review successes and challenges from the preceding year, and to establish the objectives for the coming year. This would also be the opportunity for either party to identify and recommend professional development opportunities which may assist the employee in their day to day work or to grow within the organization. Once complete, both parties shall sign off on the final document and it shall be added to the employee’s personnel file.

Professionalism

When representing RACBO-SS, staff should dress and behave appropriately. Employees should choose to dress in a manner which presents a professional image to the public and is respectful of others. Excessive use of profanity is neither professional nor respectful to co-workers and will not be tolerated.

Discipline

Discipline at RACBO-SS shall be progressive, depending on the nature of the problem. Its purpose is to identify unsatisfactory performance and / or unacceptable behaviour. The stages may be:

i. Verbal reprimand
ii. Written reprimand
iii. Dismissal

Some circumstances may be serious enough that all three steps are not used. Some examples of these types of situations are theft, drunk during working hours, assault or wilful neglect of duty. In all cases, documentation should be included in the employees personnel file.

Hours of Work

The regular office hours for RACBO-SS are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday inclusive (excluding holidays), with core operational hours being 9 a.m. to 5: p.m. During core hours, it is expected that most staff will be available. Employees may also be expected to work such other hours as may be requested or required, from time to time. Employees hired on a part time basis will have schedules determined on a case by case basis.

Employees are required to notify their supervisor, in advance, of planned days away from the office. Unplanned absences from the office should be reported to the employee’s supervisor as soon as could reasonably be expected. At the discretion of the Executive Director, depending on circumstances, employees may be allowed to work from home for specific periods of time. As a courtesy, the Administrative Assistant should also be notified of absences.
Statutory Holidays

In the spirit of family, the Executive Director reserves the right to close the office between Christmas and New Year’s to enable employees to spend time with their families. This will be reviewed annually and will depend on operational requirements. These non-statutory days will have no impact on employee vacation or lieu time.

Overtime
All overtime must be authorized by the Executive Director in advance of being worked. Employees will be provided with time off in lieu of overtime pay at straight time for all hours worked between 9-5 PM amounted to (40) hours a week and (200) hours per a Month. Time in lieu of overtime pay must be taken in the twelve (12) months following it being earned and it must be scheduled with the agreement of the RACBO-SS based on its operational requirements. Overtime, taken in lieu, should be used in ½ day increments. Pursuant to South Sudan Employment Standards Labour Act “2017”, employees in a Managerial or Supervisory roles are exempt from the overtime provisions of the Employment Standards Act.

Business travel for conferences, meetings, etc, which cause an employee to depart or arrive home on a non work day does not constitute overtime. If travel is part of the employee's job, or could be reasonably expected to occur in the course of performing one's duties, it is merely an inconvenience. Some travel, which may be exceptional to the employee's normal duties, may qualify as overtime at the discretion of the Executive Director.

Any overtime worked and not taken in lieu will be paid out in the event that the employee leaves RACBO-SS for any reason.

The notice as described in this paragraph is inclusive of all statutory and common law entitlements to notice or payment in lieu of notice.

The notice requirement contained in this clause constitutes a material inducement to the Employer to enter this agreement.

Resignation

After completion of the first ninety (90) days of the probationary period, employees must give RACBO-SS two (2) weeks’ notice of resignation. The organization may waive the resignation notice period in whole or in part at any time by providing payment of regular wages for the period so waived.

Layoff

Operation requirements are subject to change based on workload and the funding levels received on an annual basis. All efforts will be made to keep staff in a position similar, in scope and salary, to that they have become accustomed to. If the organization is unable to do this, then employees will receive two (2) weeks’ notice for each year of service, as required by the South Sudan Labour Act “2017”. For employees who have a minimum of six years of service, this amount will be augmented by one (1) week of severance pay (or equivalent notice) for each year of service.

Smoke Free Environment

As prohibited by most agencies, smoking in workplaces such as, in the offices of RACBO-SS is not permitted at any time. An ‘enclosed workplace’ is defined as the inside of any place, building or structure or conveyance or a part of any of them that a) is covered by a roof or b) employees work in or frequent during the course of their employment whether or not they are acting in the course of their employment at the time, and c) is not primarily a private dwelling.

Pets

The offices of RACBO-SS are a place of business, and as such, pets are not welcome during normal working hours. Staff and visitors with seeing-eye dogs are the exception.

HARRASSMENT

RACBO-SS wants to provide a harassment-free environment for its employees and volunteers. Mutual respect, along with cooperation and understanding, must be the basis of interaction between members and staff. There are several forms of harassment but all can be defined as any unwelcome action by any person, whether verbal or physical, on a single or repeated basis, which humiliates insults or degrades. "Unwelcome", for the purposes of this policy, refers to any action which the harasser knows or ought to reasonably know is not desired by the victim of the harassment.

Specifically, racial harassment is defined as any unwelcome comments, racist statements, slurs, jokes, graffiti or literature or pictures and posters which may intentionally or unintentionally offend another person.

Sexual harassment is any unwanted attention of a sexual nature such as remarks about appearance or personal life, offensive written or visual actions like graffiti or degrading pictures, physical contact of any kind, or sexual demands.

Email: racbonet@gmail.com/garanglual381@gmail.com
WORKPLACE VIOLENCE

Workplace violence can be defined as a threat or an act of aggression resulting in physical or psychological damage, pain or injury to a worker, which arises during the course of work. Further to the definition of violence, is the definition of abuse. Abuse can be verbal, psychological or sexual in nature. Verbal abuse is the use of unwelcome, embarrassing, offensive, threatening or degrading comments. Psychological abuse is an act which provokes fear or diminishes a person's dignity or self-esteem. Finally, sexual abuse is any unwelcome verbal or physical advance or sexually explicit statement.

RACBO-SS has a zero tolerance limit with regards to harassment and violence. Employees or volunteers engaging in either harassing or violent activities will be subject to discipline, which may include termination of employment, removal from Boards or committees and possibly criminal charges.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Regrettably, conflict can occur in any working environment. In an effort to resolve conflict in an expedient, yet fair manner, RACBO-SS recommends the following process for conflict or dispute resolution.

- Speak to the person you are having the dispute with. Many times disputes arise due to misunderstandings and miscommunications.
- If speaking to the individual does not work, speak to the Executive Director. The ED will arrange a meeting between those involved in the dispute, to determine a resolution.
- If the ED is unable to resolve a workplace dispute, the parties may be referred to mediation by an outside third party. The resolution of the mediator is binding on both parties of the dispute.
